Foreword

CAMPUS MOODS

How wonderful are the changing moods of campus life . . . happiness from the friendships we make, the elation from meeting the challenge of the classroom, the kaleidoscopic feelings at sporting events, the gaiety at dances and other social affairs, the tenseness of preparing for exams. These are the moods which contribute to the satisfaction gained from spending four well-rounded years of training for our future profession.

Administration

Dear Faculty and Students,

When the staff of the Carontawan decided upon Campus Moods as their theme for 1959, they brought many memories to those of the faculty and staff who see Mansfield as our life work. Living here throughout the year, we are able to observe the many moods of this campus which means so much to us all.

We are here in the heat of summer, the time when the natural forces governing our flowering world seem to be in balance. No longer do we feel the pulsing urgency of spring, the feeling of strong growth as crops change from thin lines of green above brown soil to thicker, wider rows. The campus grass is thick and green. Quietness replaces the haste of spring and fewer students tread the green carpets.

Suddenly autumn bursts upon these northern Pennsylvania hills and the campus is ablaze with color. Students make their way over the campus through dry leaves. A hazy blue sky, hung with a fresh bleached washing of white clouds, surrounds us as hundreds of happy voices signal the return to Mansfield and to friendships dormant during the summer. We see a campus crisp, cool, and damp with morning dew, a campus which provides a setting for the sun as it lifts from the eastern horizon and begins its daily arc to the west.

Then comes that morning when we awake to see our green and russet surroundings covered with a mantle of white. Football season is over. The winter equinox comes upon us before we leave for that glorious Christmas vacation. Our campus trees are strung with brightly colored lights. Now the night comes early and lasts late; the air is cold and nippy. There is much snow-shoveling and ash-spreading as we try to keep our roads open and our life active. This is the time when we study hard. This is also the time of ice skating, skiing, and tobogganing, and the gym is filled for basketball games.

We are startled one day to realize that the rains have carried the snow away, that April, the time of planting, has again arrived, and that school will soon be over. The first green shoots push timidly from the barren earth with the promise of more to come. Then comes May Day, final banquets, and Carontawans. This is the time when we march from the arcade to Straughn Hall for Commencement. Then the bustle of Commencement gives way to the quietness of the summer as nature begins again the everlasting cycle of our campus moods.

Sincerely,
LEWIS W. RATHGEBER
President

DEAN OF INSTRUCTION

DR. HARRY W. EARLEY

B.A., M.Ed., Ed.D., Pennsylvania State University

Of the many facets of college life, few are more important than a warm, friendly association between students and faculty. This environment exists to a marked degree on our campus. The effort to foster this relationship is well worth the rewards that accrue.

*" . . . Me too thy nobleness has taught
To master my despair;
The fountains of my hidden life
Are through thy friendship fair."*

R. WALDO EMERSON

Dean Earley and Secretary, Mrs. Clarence Hunsicker.

Mr. Pirritano and Secretary, Miss Kilbourne

ROY A. PIRRITANO
B.S., Temple University

Mr. Roy A. Pirritano, as the Administrative Assistant to the President, has duties involving the initiation and follow-up necessary to carry out the administrative details of the President's Office. He has full charge of public relations work such as news releases, brochures, advertising the college, and other media which presents and interprets the college and its activities. He also conducts the work connected with Veterans Affairs.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT

Director of Student Teaching and Placement

DR. RICHARD M. WILSON
B.S., Mansfield; M.Ed., Ed.D.,
Pennsylvania State University

As Director of Student Teaching and Placement Dr. Wilson's wise educational philosophy and natural ability is immediately recognized by his expert administration of the student teaching program. His efforts result in a high percentage of placement of Mansfield's graduates in the schools of Pennsylvania and other states.

Student teachers are deeply appreciative of Dr. Wilson's supervision, guidance, and understanding.

DEAN OF STUDENTS

THOMAS E. GODWARD
B.A., M.A., New York State College
for Teachers at Albany

Mr. Godward, in his administrative position, centralizes the supervision, planning, and organizing of all matters relating to student welfare and activities. He is the responsible advisor for all student organizations in cases dealing with administrative policy and acts as a liaison between the Deans of Men and Women and the President.

Mr. Godward has full responsibility for the college calendar, works with the Business Manager on student finances dealing with expenditure and budgeting of activity fees, the student union and bookstore, works with the Dietitian on matters relating to student food service, has full and direct responsibility for student government, administers the program for the granting of student aid, and supervises the academic student advisory program.

Mr. Godward, Dean of Students

DEAN OF WOMEN

MISS ELLAMAE JACKSON
B.S., West Chester; M.Ed., Pennsylvania
State University

Miss Ellamae Jackson, Dean of Women, has many responsibilities, under the supervision of the Director of Student Personnel, dealing with the administration and policy matters affecting the women students at Mansfield State Teachers College. Each year her duties become more complex as the number of women living in North Hall increase. Miss Jackson's counseling responsibilities are many.

She also has responsibility for social activities on campus. Her success in this area is reflected in the friendly atmosphere that exists in the college.

Dean Samuel Long and Assistant Dean Edward Stelmack.

EDWARD STELMACK
B.A., St. Francis College;
M.Ed., Pennsylvania
State University

Since college offers many new, unexpected experiences to which students must adjust themselves, Dean Long's responsibility, as Dean of Men under the supervision of the Director of Student Personnel, is to assist new entrants in adjusting to college life in order that they may have the opportunity to develop their potentialities to the fullest possible extent and thereby equip themselves to contribute their just share in improving the social order.

In addition to the administrative duties concerning the men students of the college, Dean Long also acts as co-adviser to the Student Council and the Men's Dormitory Council.

Mr. Edward Stelmack, Assistant Dean of Men, is resident director of South Hall and co-adviser to the Men's Dormitory Council.

DEAN OF MEN
DR. SAMUEL M. LONG
B.S., Lock Haven; M.A., Columbia
University, Bucknell University;
Ed.D., Pennsylvania State University

Business Manager and Staff

Mr. DePriest and Miss Steele give many hours of service to our college library.

Mr. Zadorozny, Dean Long, and Dean Godward discuss student problems.

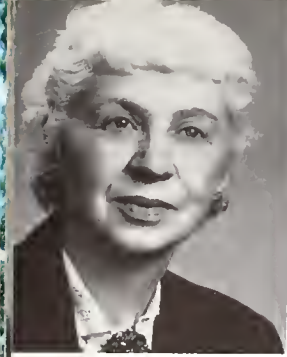

Miss Laura C. Rehbein, Mrs. Eleanor Brion, Miss Jane Kilburn, and Mrs. Victoria Theimann provide efficient secretarial services for the Administration.

Senior Class Officers

Class of 1959

Seniors! Seniors! Where art thou going? Now your bout with that mythological fear, student teaching, is over. Was it really as bad as you had expected? Although most of your teaching has been done in the campus training schools, some of you have journeyed to schools in the surrounding areas: Williamsport, Susquehanna, Wellsboro, and Blossburg, among others. Your next step is a big one and will give evidence of all that you have accomplished in the last four years.

In the future, as you think back on the various activities of your college career, uppermost in your mind might be the placement forms you filled out with high hopes for the first teaching job, the long hours you spent in making out lesson plans, and the daily trek to your student teaching assignments in one of the campus schools.

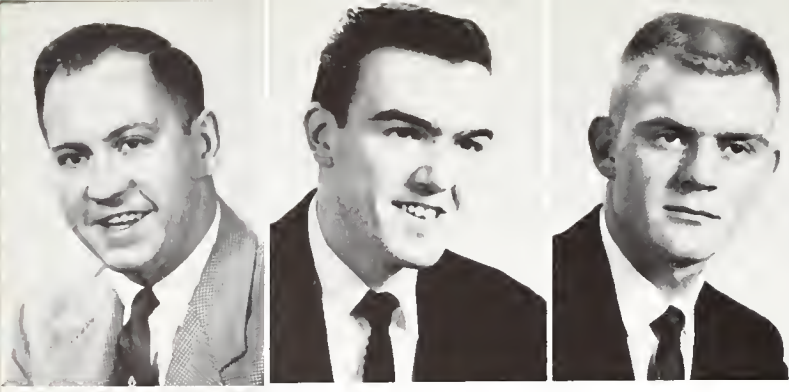

You will also remember your group's social activities at M.S.T.C., and relive time and time again such memorable occasions as the Christmas Caroling which ended with open house at President Rathgeber's home.

Fasten your safety belts, student teachers, ambulance now leaving for Covington Music Class.

Dining at the Waldorf has nothing on M.S.T.C., as these Seniors know.

Junior Class Officers

Class of 1960

In their new status as upperclassmen, the junior class stepped into that realm of their college career which separates them from the newness of college life and projects them into the future of their professions.

With their unlimited enthusiasm, the juniors stand as an integrated group capable of achieving academic, cultural, and social heights. Their cooperation with the senior class in presenting the Junior-Senior Ball indicated only one of their achievements. They also proved their worth in aiding the sophomores in their efforts to orient the freshmen to M.S.T.C.

The Hut is a favorite place to "study."

Class of 1961

From underclassmen to upperclassmen. Yes, the sophomore class has gained the refined distinction of reaching a new stratosphere, upperclassmen. They have also reached the half-way mark in their college career at Mansfield.

This sophomore class's most noteworthy achievement was the winning of this year's class competition on Parents' Day. They were also active in various enterprises that took place on our college campus. The sophomores have been responsible for helping the freshmen become oriented to college life and by doing so have given them a solid foundation for a better college career.

As a result of their cooperative effort with the freshman class, the Freshman-Sophomore Ball was a success, not only from the standpoint of ethereal beauty, but from the sense of self-satisfaction that comes from working together in the producing of a masterpiece.

It was a beautiful Homecoming float ruled by sophomore, Noretta Harrison.

Freshman Class Officers

Class of 1962

Report from Earth: September 8, 1958 . . . "Mansfield State Teachers College was invaded today by 342 enthusiastic strangers calling themselves 'Freshmen'."

Thus began a new era in the history of M.S.T.C., for with their arrival came the welcome change of new ideas, more privileges, and the desire for better class government as shown by their zealous campaign program in which candidates made themselves known by giving dynamic speeches, and by having pictures placed in strategic positions on campus.

A soaring influx in the college enrollment is accredited to the Freshman Class, thereby setting a precedent for future years.

Characteristic of this class is their display of outstanding co-operation as shown during initiation period, the Freshman-Sophomore Ball, Homecoming, and May Day, in which they worked with the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes to achieve a better college.

The reverberations of a new age, the "Age of Sputnik," echo through the educational corridors of Mansfield's secondary department. For the past year, this department has bent its attention toward revision of its present curriculum. Ideas have been forthcoming from heads of departments here at Mansfield and from high schools of the surrounding area.

Suggestions for new courses to be taught have been discussed lengthily, and it has been recom-

The elementary curriculum is undergoing a study by the members of the faculty as a part of the curriculum evaluation and revision. The study includes an evaluation of the report of the Middle States Rating Association, results of questionnaires completed by teachers-in-service, and comments by administrators. Results of these studies seem to indicate that the present program is excellent. One of the unique features of the program is the par-

As a result of the study now in progress, members of the faculty feel that the program can be strengthened by combining some of the methods courses and including more general education courses. This recommendation is being made to the College Curriculum Committee.

Music! Music! Music everywhere! This seems to be the pleasant situation here at M.S.T.C., for the Music Education Department is called upon to provide music for everything from grace before meals to pep bands at athletic functions. Not only are the music organizations well known on campus, but are also becoming equally renowned in the surrounding areas of Mansfield. In order to reach their goal as teachers of music for the elementary and secondary schools, students in the music department receive specialized music courses which include theory, orchestration, solfeggio, conducting, and methods. The latter is one of the most beneficial, for it is in itself a preparation for the great career of teaching which lies ahead.

Another extremely important and timely project this year was the curriculum evaluation and revision. Much thought has been given to the number of class hours and credit hours for various subjects. Government

Student Council

Back of all the work done by the various organizations on campus is found the hub of it all, the Student Council, a group of people who devote a good deal of time and effort to help make M.S.T.C. a better place to obtain an education. Without this mainstay the machinery of self-government would surely die and much, which has slowly been attained, would be lost.

The Student Council has pushed a tidy schedule across the board this year. They began their job, early in the fall by planning for the coming college year. Their first task was to begin the general planning of the monthly calendars, which entails a great amount of careful work. The next milestone was the coordinating of the organizations on campus. This must be done each year so that all activities can be prepared for in advance. A noteworthy decision was to purchase and install a public address system in the college dining room so music could be heard while the students ate their daily meals.

In December the Student Council held the tree lighting ceremony in front of Straughn Auditorium. This marks the advent of Mansfield's Christmas festivities. They also placed an Acknowledgement Placque in North Hall to honor members of Who's Who. This placque is to be used in the future to distinguish students receiving the Meritorious Service Awards. As a final activity, the Council presented its election forum for the approval of the student body.

Judging from the looks on the faces of some of our Student Council members, there's quite a problem at hand.

The Student Council is the governing body of the Mansfield Student Government Association. Because of its authoritative position, the Student Council must make decisions concerning student welfare. In a democracy some amount of authority must be vested in a smaller representative body. So it is with the Student Council, who must make decisions and legislate laws and regulations.

Each student is represented on Student Council in three ways—first, by class, for the president of each class is a member of the council; second, by department—one representative chosen by each department sits on Council; third, by the officers of the council who are elected at large by the student body.

All students are urged to remember that the best check on any type of government is an active interest in that government. Any laxity on the part of the individual throws more authority into the hands of the governing body.

The male contingency of Mansfield has been governed this year under the careful auspices of the Men's Dormitory Council. The council has striven to give the men a chance to show their varied abilities and to provide ample opportunities to participate in the college's campus activities.

The council took the men of the freshman class under their wing immediately with a briefing by the president, Ed Harrington, on their responsibilities for dormitory living. They also set up a regulated study period for freshmen to further help them in their efforts to orient successfully to college life.

This group of men continued the operations by stirring the men to "arms," having them work doggedly by the gridiron selling concessions for the comfort of the spectators and the betterment of the dormitory purse. At Christmas time the council supervised the decoration of South Hall. Their Christmas activities culminated with open-house for all students.

The final activity was their campaign for the new council. They stressed the idea that in order to have a suitable dormitory in which to live and study, the men would need to continue to select with care the members of their dormitory council.

Women's Dormitory Council

The year's female aggregation has been lead by the Women's Dormitory Council. The council started their campaign by acquainting the freshman girls with the rules and regulations for living in North Hall. Later they held "hall parties" to show the girls the leisurely side of dormitory living. They continued their program of activities by entering a float in the Homecoming Day parade.

Again, we found the Council behind the drive by the women students to decorate North Hall for the holiday season and also to ready it for open-house. And, of course, the women presented a portion of the annual Grecian Sing held at Christmas.

In February this Council put forth a final drive to help the social life of the college. This time their efforts were concentrated on a weekend of entertainment, fun, and frolic for every student at Mansfield.

Leading the unbeatable people known as the "day students" is the Day Students' Council.

This group heads an organization that manages to get to class by "foot or thumb" and through "rain or snow." It is also a well-known fact that these people cannot delve into college affairs as deeply as desired due to the traveling element, but they still attempt to spark campus life to the best of their abilities.

Their activities this year centered mainly around an event filled weekend in February. Previous to this engagement, they were an integral part of the annual Homecoming Day Celebration.

To culminate their activities for the year, the council had a picnic for all of its members and held its annual election of officers.

Student Union Council

The policies and activities of the Student Union, known on campus as "The Hut," are regulated by the Student Union Council. The purpose of this council is to keep The Hut running at the peak of perfection for the benefit of the student body.

At the meetings of the council, receipts and expenditures of The Hut are checked and the financial status is examined. The council also evaluates suggestions for improvements.

Many changes and improvements have been brought about through this year's council. Among these were the construction of an awning over the new window section of The Hut and the purchase of additional furniture and equipment, including the hot chocolate machine, and telephone.

That's our boy, "Hep" Leipold, offering service with a smile in the Hut.

Cliff Kreamer and Ed Harrington march bravely ahead to present their budget before the "jury."

Attention, students of M.S.T.C.! Did you ever wonder what happens to the forty dollars demanded of you each year for the Activities Fee? Here is a play by play account.

Each campus organization draws up its own budget for the coming year and presents it to the Budget Committee for approval. However, the money asked for must be a justifiable amount before it obtains the approval of a committee appointed by the Student Council. These students, together with Dean Godward, head of the committee, distribute the funds according to the needs of the organizations.

In this way, your money is returned to you through athletic functions, literary publications, social events, and Artist Series programs, all of which are planned to make your life at M.S.T.C. rich, educational, and pleasurable.

Organizations

The Association for Childhood Education is an elementary organization with membership open to the faculty and students of that department. This organization was initiated at Mansfield as a Elementary Club in 1938. The A.C.E. boasts of a membership of 191, the largest membership since the initiation of the club on our campus.

The aims of the club are to encourage the professional growth of teachers in the elementary field and to advance the education and well-being of children. Monthly meetings provide excellent opportunities for developing good fellowship among the members and also for discussing topics of interest to those in the profession. On October 16, 1958, Mr. Bre Miller, a representative of Ginn and Company, gave a science demonstration in Straughn Auditorium. Teachers and principals from the surrounding area were here as guests of A.C.E. The club also went on "A Mediterranean Cruise" when vice-president Ed Harrington showed slides taken while he was serving with the U. S. Navy.

One meeting which has become rather traditional and to which every member looks forward is the "Annual A.C.E. Banquet." This year as part of the entertainment, 1958 graduates returned to give a brief review of some of the experiences they have encountered during their teaching.

College Players officers discuss the fall production of "My 3 Angels."

"The world is our stage" is the motto of College Players, the organization on campus for people interested in dramatic arts. Each member has an opportunity to work in the phase of dramatics in which his interest lies.

The first major activity for the 1958-59 year was the successful November production of My Three Angels. This was the first Mansfield show directed by the club's new adviser, Mr. Joseph E. Conaway. December brought the annual College Players' assembly in which several members presented a reading of The Other Wiseman. Preparation for the March production of Anastasia began in February. This play, a drama, was much heavier than the fall show.

The College Players' weekend in April brought something entirely new to Mansfield's campus, theater-in-the-round. Acts from several Broadway hits were presented in an arena atmosphere. April was also highlighted by the annual banquet at which time the officers for the coming year were presented.

Another first for the club was achieved in May when it participated in the Alfred Drama Festival at Alfred Agricultural and Technical Institute, Alfred, New York. The year's activities came to an end with the first of an annual award given at the Award's Assembly to the outstanding senior member of the club. This new award was given in recognition of the former advisers, Miss Elizabeth Allen and Miss Sarah Drum.

The Geography Club seeks to recognize and promote the interest of geography among the student body. During the 1958-1959 year, Mr. Carl Schirmer was a guest at the November meeting during which he exhibited his rock and mineral collection. Both the January and February meetings consisted of the showing of slides taken abroad by Miss Snyder and Miss Keller of the Home Economics Department and by a student, Carl Whitehead. In the near future, Geography Club members will assemble and set up a model weather station which has been purchased by the College. This will promote a greater interest and understanding in meteorology, one of the facets of the study of geography. Membership is open to all students majoring or minoring in geography, and to all others who have a "B" average in geography and an overall academic average of 1.5.

This organization is composed of men who have earned a varsity letter in one of the intercollegiate sports. Its purposes are to encourage a high standard of personal conduct, to maintain friendly athletic relations with other recognized degree-granting institutions.

The "M" Club manages the printing and selling of the programs at home football games, welcomes visiting college teams, and this year, under the presidency of "Bucky" White, held a successful sports dance during the annual "M" Club sponsored Homecoming Day.

In the future the foyer of the gym will be decorated with group pictures of the M.S.T.C. athletes of the past. A fund has been started to raise money to equip the proposed football stadium with a scoreboard. Plans are also being made to reorganize the graduated "M" Club members into an active organization.

The Art Club is an honorary organization for those students who have attained an "A" in one semester of art, and for those students who are interested in upholding the standards and purposes of the club. The Art Club is affiliated with the Eastern Arts Association, an active national organization. It is from this association that many new ideas are conceived and incorporated into club meetings.

This active organization supervises the decorations on the campus for the Christmas festivities and the May Day ceremonies. Each year the club sponsors a Spring Dance to which every student is invited.

English Club

The English Club is a new and active organization on campus. In spite of a lack of affluency evinced by the older clubs, the English Club is gradually acquiring an honored position among the extracurricular activities at M.S.T.C.

Originated last year by interested English majors and minors, under the advisership of Dr. Elizabeth Swan and Dr. Bernard Baum, the club has since claimed its fame by promoting mastery of written expression, encouraging worthwhile reading, promoting discussion of literary topics, stimulating an interest in English through the fields of creative writing and literary art and a stimulation and participation in this field.

The most conspicuous of the Club's achievements to date has been the presentation of the Renato Castellani production of "Romeo and Juliet" to the students of the college and nearby high schools. This film was first prize winner at the Venice Film Festival in 1954, and its presentation was a noteworthy indication of the club's growing efficacy.

The club, now comprised of nearly forty members, and still growing, looks forward to giving its members a broader, more complete awareness of the culture of our modern world.

The agenda for the 1958-59 season included concert tours both in the fall and spring, with the group traveling to Sayre, Wyalusing, and Troy, among others.

Concert Wind Ensemble

The high point of the College social calendar is reached when "The Esquires" appear on the scene to provide music for dancing and romancing. These sixteen men bring forth the greatest sounds ever to reverberate over our campus. Versatility is the key word as they ably modulate from slow danceable tunes to some of the "swing-iest" tunes ever.

Not a pick-up group, this band is composed of sixteen selected musicians. These men are picked for their outstanding ability and knowledge of performance in the Jazz Idiom. Membership is open to anyone on campus able to meet the requirements. Because of the keenness of student competition, membership is determined through supervised public auditioning.

This group serves to stimulate a greater appreciation for modern music. The special musical techniques employed by the orchestra help to make it an outstanding and enjoyable portion of the campus scene.

The sax section of the Esquires practices faithfully.

The Esquires

Advanced Chorus

The advanced mixed chorus, under the direction of Mr. Eugene Jones, numbers eighty singers and includes all students of the music education department other than the freshman class. The chorus presents each year a concert at Christmas and one in the spring. It also sings for the Vespers throughout the school year. Its repertoire is chosen from the choral masterworks of all periods of music including contemporary compositions. This past year it presented such varied works as J. S. Bach's Jesu, Meine Freude, and in the spring concert with the Corning Little Symphony, Carmina Burana by Carl Orff, and Mozart's Requiem. Groups of shorter compositions, both sacred and secular complete its programs.

MANSFIELD COMMUNITY ORCHESTRA under the direction of Mr. Harold Brown.

Brass Ensemble

With music ranging in style from that of composers of the 16th century to that of contemporary composers, this group of musicians finds a capable director in Dr. Benjamin Husted, when performing music written for the brass medium. The Brass Ensemble has performed at assembly programs, recitals, high school programs, and perhaps most fondly remembered, the Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

Campus Choraleers

Campus Choraleers, previously called the Freshman Chorus, is a music organization open to students of all departments and classes.

Fred Waring's Song of Christmas was sung by the group under the direction of Charles B. Fowler in Straughn Auditorium. In the spring the Choraleers joined the Advanced Chorus and the Corning Philharmonic to create Carmina Burana by Carl Orff, and Mozart's Requiem. This production was under the auspices of Theodore Hollenbach, who is the conductor of the Corning Philharmonic Orchestra. The combined group presented this program at Corning and at M.S.T.C.

Opera Workshop

Membership into the Opera Workshop is open to any student who can pass an audition as singer, dancer, or stage-craftsman. Two major productions are presented during the academic year. The fall production is of a more serious nature than the spring production. Along with these larger productions, there is a "road company" which is prepared to take programs to high schools and organizations upon request.

This year during the Christmas season Puccini's SISTER ANGELICA and the Second Act of LA BOHEME was presented. For the Alumni Weekend this spring, Frank Loesser's "THE MOST HAPPY FELLA" was produced.

Renaissance Singers

Sometimes called "the Madrigal Singers," this group has for its purpose the study of vocal music of the fifteenth to the seventeenth centuries. Their repertoire includes, however, folk songs from many lands.

Each year the group gives concerts in various parts of the college source area. Membership is determined by auditions and is open to any student who can qualify.

Woodwind Quintet

A select group of advanced woodwind players comprise the Woodwind Quintet, under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Husted. Though their prime purpose is playing for their own enjoyment, this group also performs at various functions both on and off campus.

Mrs. Helen Lutes has charge of the women's athletic program at M.S.T.C. She is the W.A.A. adviser, faculty chairman of the Student Recreation Committee, and cheerleader adviser.

Mr. Edward Sternack is head football coach and Dean of Men. He emphasizes sportsmanship on and off the field. He is able to give valuable assistance to those who will guide youth in sports programs.

William Gibson, baseball and basketball coach, has given the students at Mansfield the thought and experience of winning ball clubs. This year Mr. Gibson's basketball team has had a winning season due mainly to his time and effort.

Athletic Directors

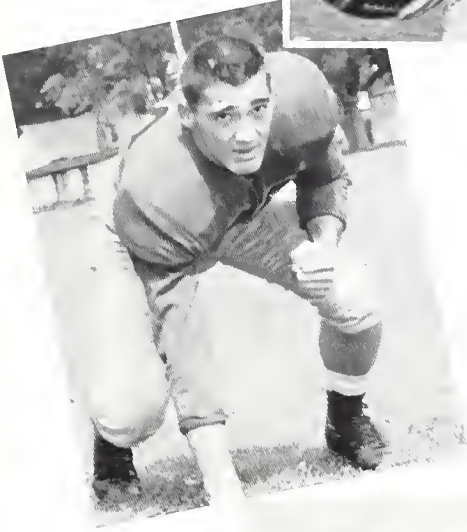

Marian Decker, athletic director at Mansfield, is in charge of all intercollegiate competition and men's intramural sports. He also directs the physical education program at the college and coaches the golf team.

Due to the efforts of Mr. Decker, many students have had a chance to realize the benefits athletics is able to provide in the schools.

Practice began early in September for the 1958 football season at Mansfield. Sixty candidates appeared for practice and it looked like a banner year for the men in red and black.

On September 20, Brockport, a highly rated club, invaded Smythe Park. After a difficult battle, Coach Stelmack's "Mountaineers" came through with a 7-6 victory. This was due to a two-yard plunge by Larry Biddle and the extra point kicked by John Rudy.

Westchester arrived in Mansfield the next Saturday and handed the "Mountaineers" a 19-0 defeat. This was a difficult game due to the rain and mud.

MSTC then traveled to Bloomsburg and was defeated 32-6. Lock Haven also defeated the "Mountaineers" 19-6 at Smythe Park the following week.

Things looked bad for Coach Stelmack's team at this point. However, they defeated Cheyney 27-0. The team ended the season with losses to Edinboro, Kutztown, and Shippensburg.

The key figures on the line for the "Mountaineers" were Millard, Ayers, Dunnigan, Moore, White, Lehman, Scancella, Lungenfelter, Ronchi, Hansen, Pascarella, Frontino, McKeever, Thomas, and Snyder. The outstanding backs were Biddle, Answine, Shubic, Page, Della Salla, DeWitt, Dewey, Talerico, Whitecavage, Rudy, Cecoli, and Crisp.

Certain members of the team were instrumental in the stamina which the team did show. Co-Captains Biddle and Ayers with Moore, Millard, and Dunningan showed courage in defeat and outstanding ability in many instances. Two freshmen, Shubic and Answini, displayed excellent work in the backfield and showed promise for future seasons.

Coach Stelmack is hoping that the underclassmen will provide MSTC with a winning season in 1959.

Coach Bill Gibson and student coach, John Rusinko, led the Mountaineers to one of the best seasons in the annals of basketball history at M.S.T.C.

The Mountaineers opened the season with a bang, quickly set an eight game winning streak, but were suddenly brought to a halt by the Millersville quintet with a 76-71 defeat. That slight upset didn't stop the Mounties for long as they retaliated with a three game winning streak, halted again by two losses. The last of the season saw the Red and Black gain three more wins and one loss, winding up the season with a record of fourteen won and four lost.

Dick DiBiaso from Monesson, Pennsylvania, and Dave Russell from Donora, Pennsylvania, both averaged fourteen points per game and were among the leading rebounders. Able assistance was forthcoming from sophomore, Joe Martin, who had a 12 point average. Also contributing greatly to the picture were Al Zyga and Gib Moore. Co-Captains, Hal Hansen and Ron Firestone, Mike Gamble, and Bob Felt furnished the scoring power from the outside. Wilmer Crisp and Dick Mitchell performed ably when called upon.

At one time during the season the Mounts were ranked as high as fifteenth in the nation on their defensive ability.

At the end of the season, the Mountaineers were honored for their success by receiving an invitation to participate in the Pennsylvania State playoffs of the National Athletic Intercollegiate Association with the possibility of representing Pennsylvania at the National Tournament in Kansas City, Missouri.

Junior Varsity

The junior varsity, coached by John Rusinko, achieved a fine record this season. Gene Massari, a transfer student, led the squad averaging better than twenty points per game. He appears to be an excellent prospect for the varsity team next season. Other outstanding players are: Jim Knowles, Ed Green, Bob Stackhouse, and Tom Buckheit. With a little more experience these men should help to constitute a fine varsity club in the near future.

Here the J.V. Mountaineers show some of their well-developed defensive tactics.

Golf

Golf is a new sport which was introduced to the varsity program last year. Mr. Decker coached the team which had only a few scheduled matches. They were relatively successful in their attempts and have had a good team this year. Four matches were scheduled for this season, plus the P.S.T.C. tournament at Slippery Rock State Teachers College on May 11.

John Rudy, Dick Nares, Bill Lewellyn, and Mike McNaney, a completely veteran team, provided Mansfield with some excellent performances on the golf course.

Baseball

Coach Gibson's 1958 baseball team produced one of the finest records in many years. For the first time the "Mountaineers" played all double headers so there were sixteen scheduled games. However, the games with Bloomsburg and Lock Haven were cancelled due to weather conditions. Thus there were twelve games played. Of these twelve, Mansfield won five and lost seven.

The Flashlight is the monthly student publication of Mansfield State Teachers College. In addition to keeping its readers informed on the many aspects of college life, this publication serves as a forum for student opinion and enables those with special literary ability to have their writing brought before the students.

The staff of The Flashlight, over sixty students at present, are chosen according to former journalistic experience and evidence of literary promise.

Nine delegates from the organization represented Mansfield State Teachers College at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference in March.

Within the past year subscriptions and advertisements have increased nearly one hundred percent. The Flashlight is looking forward to an even more successful year come September '59.

The fond memories that Mansfield holds for her alumni is a tradition unchanged in spite of changes in faculty, administration, and physical appearance.

The interdependency of the college and her graduates is an essential need. In order that our alumni may realize how valuable are their contributions, the student-faculty alumni relations committee joins with the general Alumni Association to make contact by way of a yearly news letter and the bi-annual publication of the Mansfieldian, the official alumni bulletin. The Mansfieldian strives to bring to its membership news of both campus and alumni events.

Acknowledgement

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to everyone for their co-operation without which this yearbook would have been an impossibility. I particularly want to thank the yearbook advisers, Dr. Mildred Menge and Miss Thelma Ching for the time and help they so willingly gave in the preparation of this annual.

May this edition of the CARONTAWAN serve as a permanent reminder of your most cherished memories of life on Mansfield's Campus during 1958 and 1959.

Carl Bedell,
Editor
